

English 101 – Fall 2017
Final In-Class Essay

There are TWO prompts attached:

PROMPT I : The Milgram Obedience Experiment

PROMPT II: The Stanford Prison Authority Experiment

Selected ONE and only one prompt to respond to

PROMPT I: The Milgram Obedience Experiment

Writing Situation: You work for a major University (pick whichever one you like, or make up a name). You have been tasked with defending an IRB (Institutional Review Board - see page 154 of S&S) request to perform a modified version of Milgram's Obedience experiment.

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

The essay needs to have a conventional structure (Introduction, distinct body paragraphs, and a conclusion)

Because you are working with several articles that are separate but related, you are going to need to use the techniques of paraphrase and summary when presenting your evidence. HOWEVER, you should also use selected direct quotes when necessary and appropriate. In other words, I want you use all of various forms of source integration available to you.

You DO NOT need to have a Works Cited page, but please include any citations – such as (Nicholson 155) in the body of your essay.

You may use any texts (dictionaries, other articles, notes) to assist you in writing.

GOOD LUCK ON ALL OF YOUR FINALS !

PROMPT II: The Stanford Prison Authority Experiment

Writing Situation: You work for a major University (pick whichever one you like, or make up a name). You have been tasked with defending an IRB (Institutional Review Board - see page 154 of S&S) request to perform a modified version of the Stanford Prison experiment.

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

The essay needs to have a conventional structure (Introduction, distinct body paragraphs, and a conclusion)

Because you are working with several articles that are separate but related, you are going to need to use the techniques of paraphrase and summary when presenting your evidence. HOWEVER, you should also use selected direct quotes when necessary and appropriate. In other words, I want you use all of various forms of source integration available to you.

You DO NOT need to have a Works Cited page, but please include any citations – such as (Zimbardo) in the body of your essay. (Online articles will not require page numbers)

You may use any texts (dictionaries, other articles, notes) to assist you in writing.

GOOD LUCK ON ALL OF YOUR FINALS !